

Dear Editor,

As a responsible citizen of [Your State], I believe it's my duty to tell you about the last, best chance to save the Republic from the overreaching federal government.

Almost everyone knows Washington, D.C., is on a dangerous course. But few Americans know the people possess the power to make changes to the federal structure when Washington starts to abuse its authority.

Article V of the Constitution authorizes the people—through their state legislatures—to call a convention for the purpose of proposing amendments to the Constitution.

Citizens for Self-Governance has launched the Convention of States Project to call a convention that would propose amendments to limit Washington's power. The great state of [Your State] has a leadership team in place to spearhead this movement. To get involved visit our website, conventionofstates.com. You can also contact [Your State]'s COS state leadership at [Your State Leadership's Email].

I believe the COS Project gives us a way out of the mess D.C. has created. I want [Your State] to be one of the states calling for a Convention of States. Together we can help preserve liberty for our children and grandchildren.
